Ypsi, sacred Alma Mater,

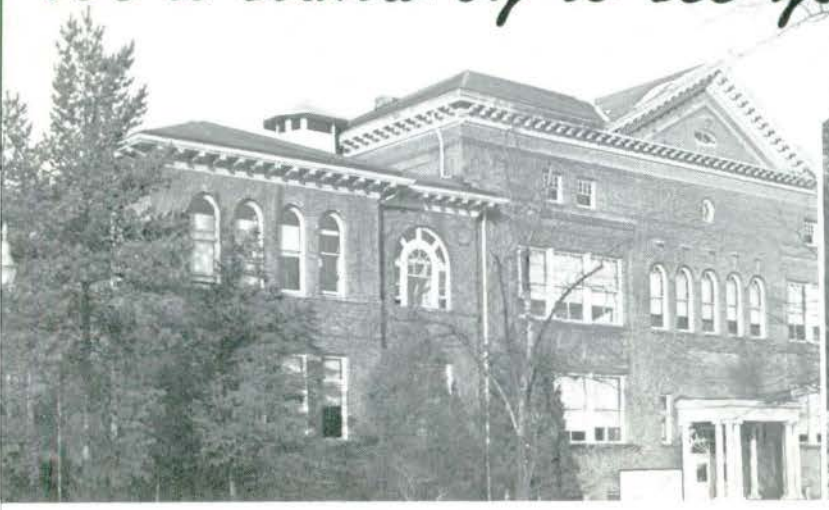

To your name we shall be true,

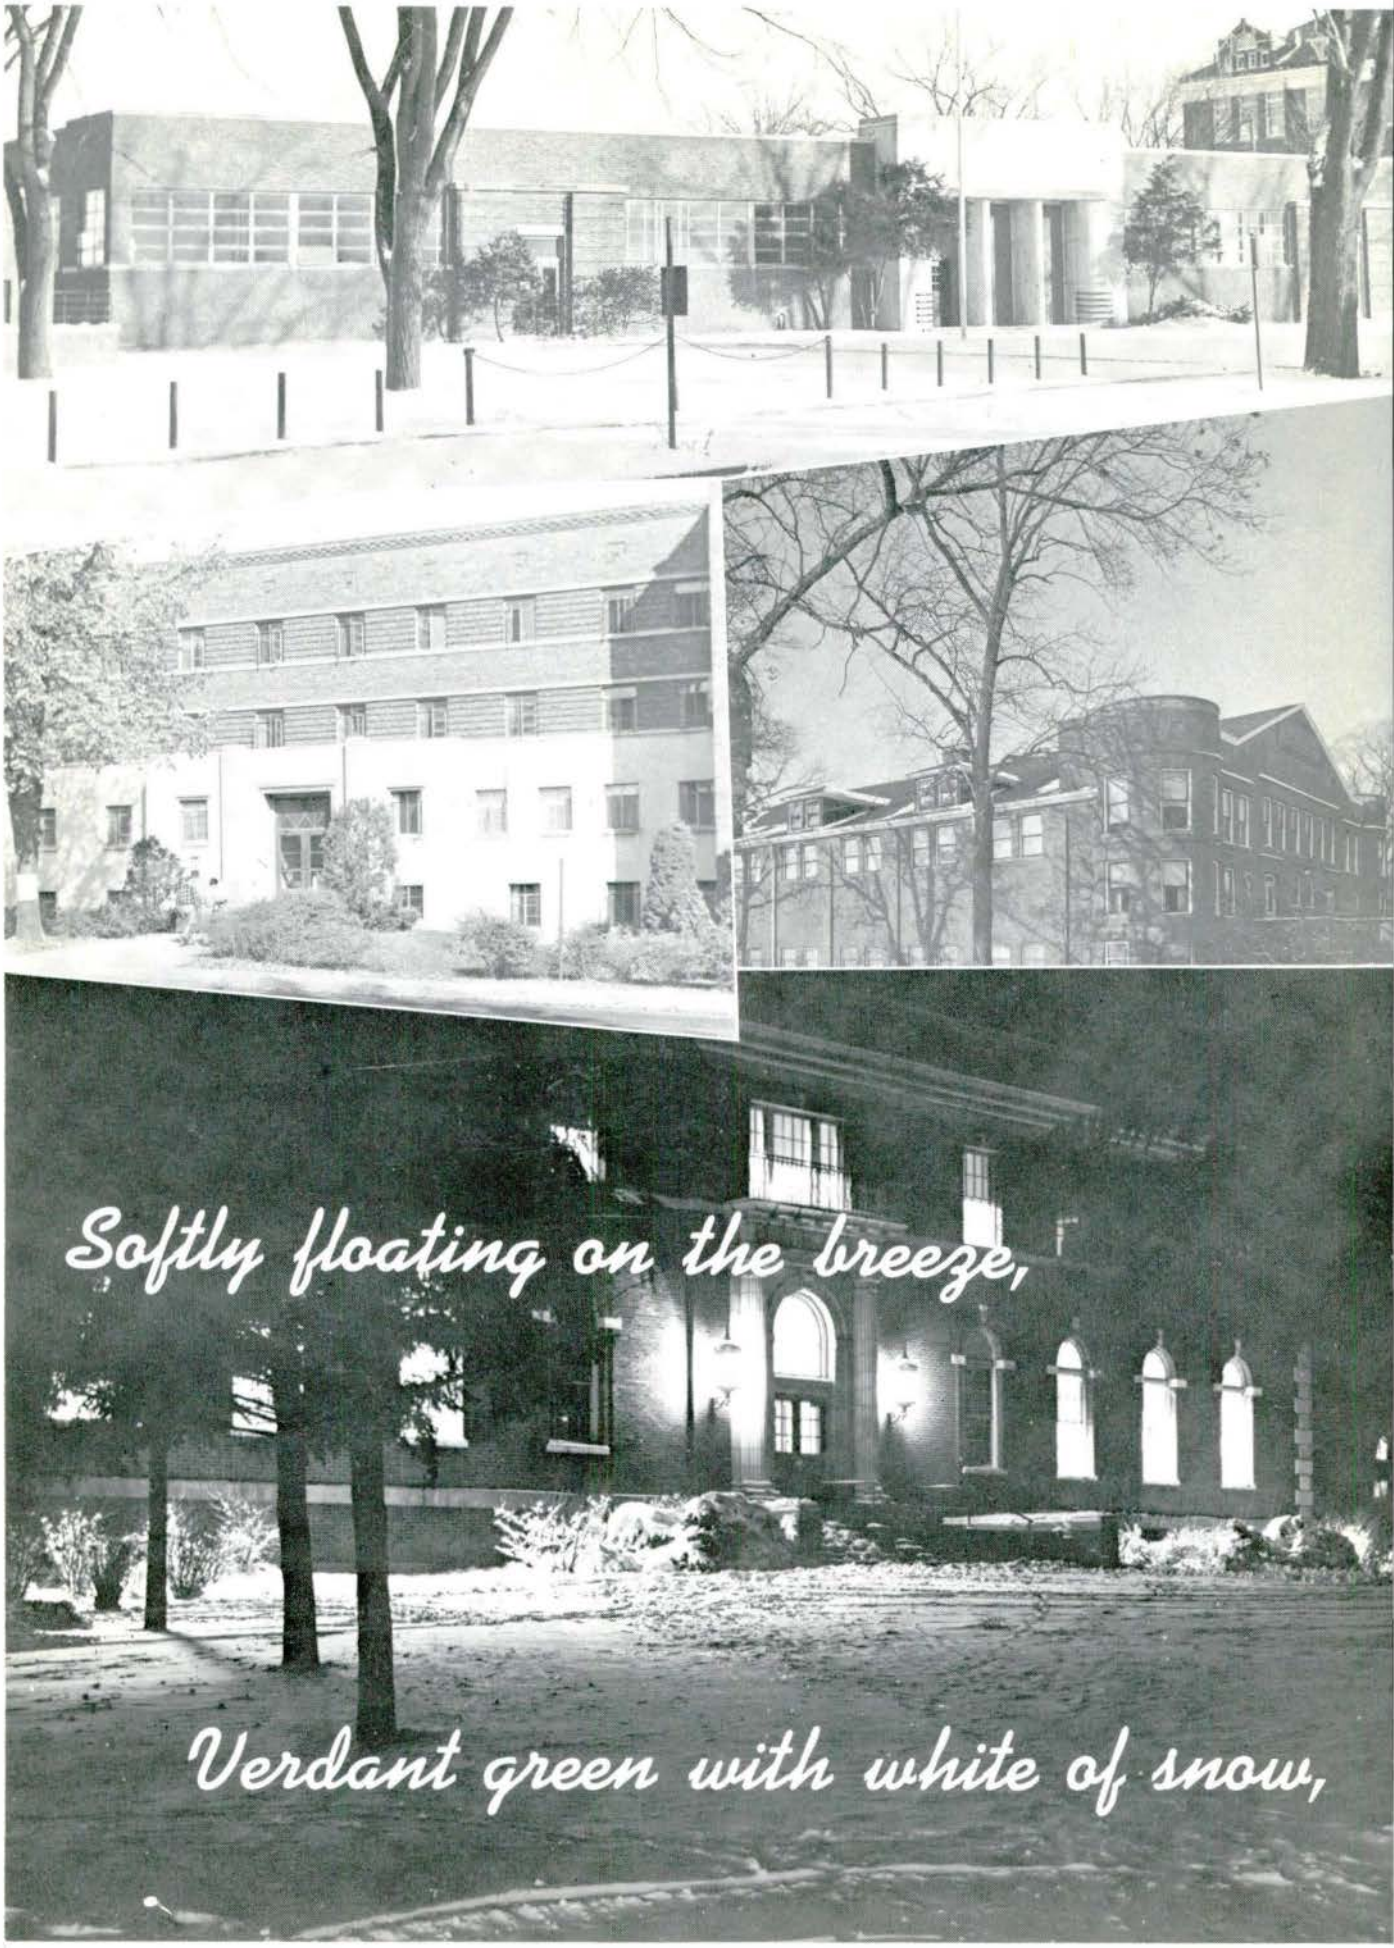

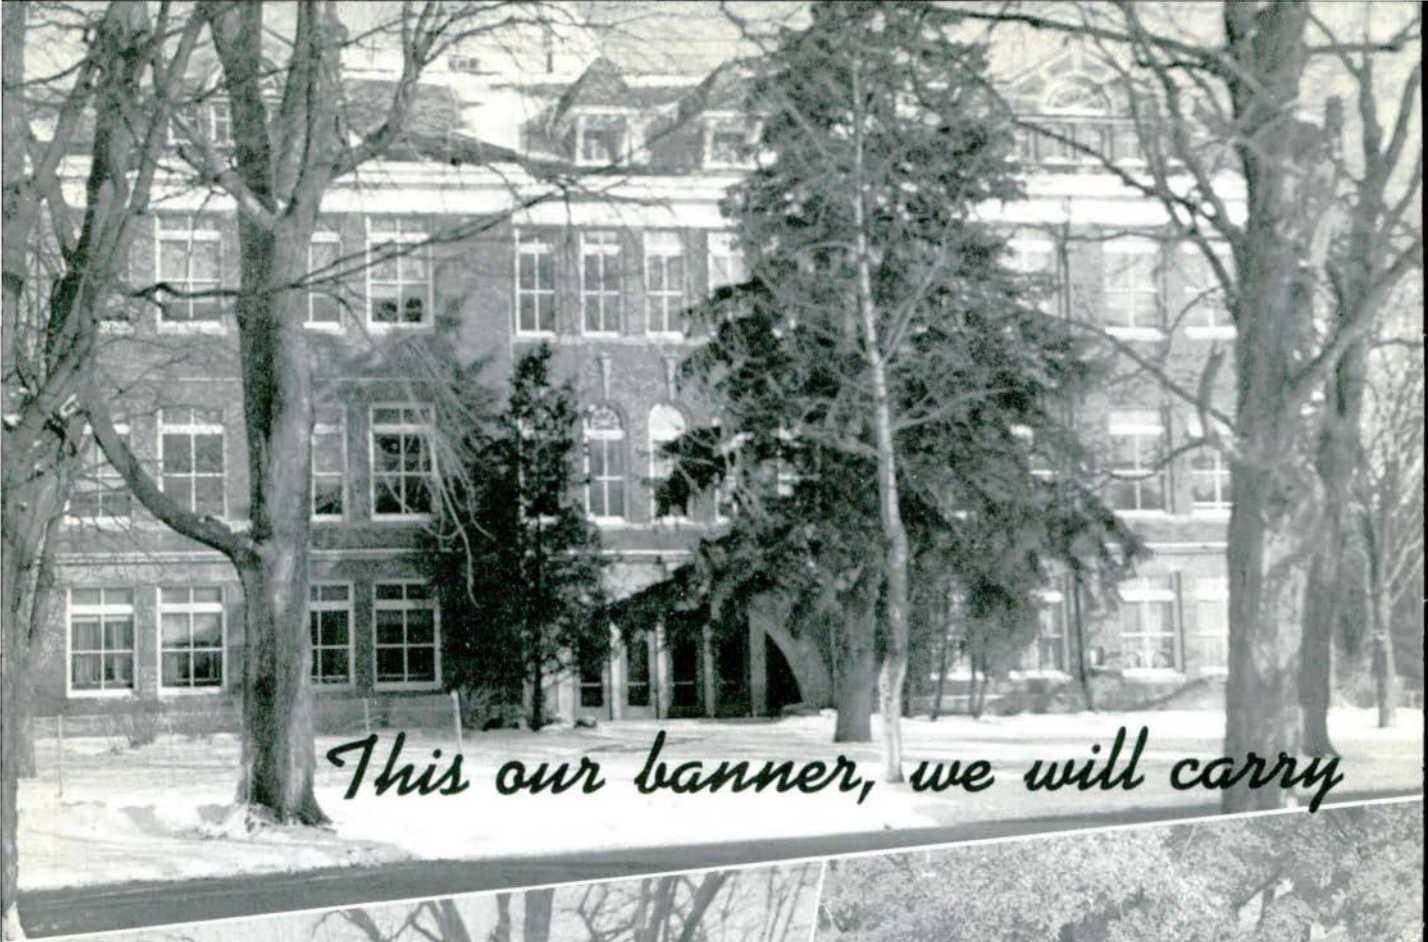

Ever marching on to victory,

We'll stand by to see you thru.

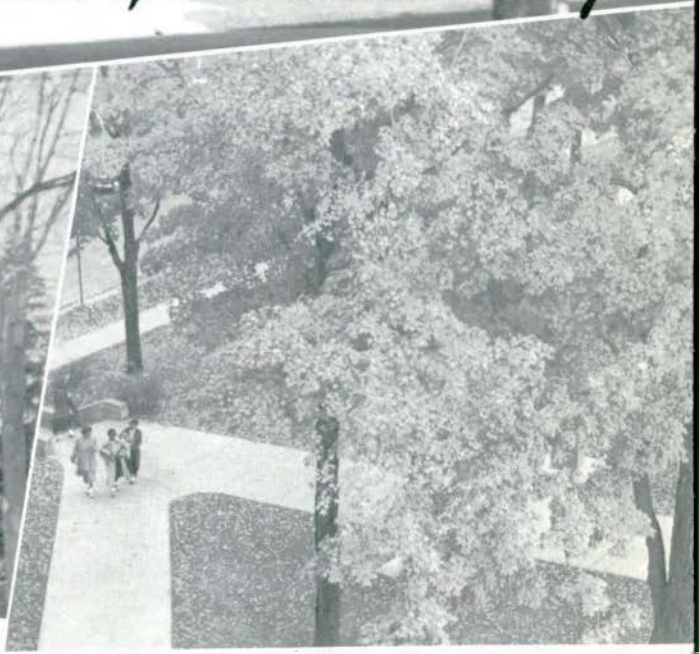

Softly floating on the breeze,
Verdant green with white of snow,

This our banner, we will carry

In our hearts where e'er we go.

President Eugene B. Elliott

The annual publication of the Aurora is one of our finest traditions. Not only is it a tradition, but through its pages it catches the life and spirit of the campus. It portrays many happy occasions and preserves for the future, moments that are fraught with dramatic emotionalism.

I salute the 1959 graduating class and wish you well in your individual undertakings. You are well prepared to meet the challenges of life, although the biggest challenge is to keep prepared. We are living in a fast moving world that calls upon the individual for continuous top-flight performance. This can be achieved only through constant study and effort. But no achievement is worthy unless it benefits mankind. Public colleges are supported largely at public expense, because society needs the services of highly educated people to carry out its complicated tasks and provide creative motivation for progress. While the graduates of all colleges owe society much, it is especially incumbent upon the graduate of the public college to fulfill his responsibility to those who have done so much to provide him with an opportunity for education.

The service ideal for the college graduate carries rich rewards in terms of lasting satisfactions.

Eastern Michigan College . . . three words with personal and varied memories and meanings to everyone connected with the Campus. Therefore, it is not the purpose of this Aurora to show a complete picture of campus life at Ypsilanti; rather it is intended that the Aurora of 1959 will serve as a window to a vast storeroom of remembrances, each page bringing forth a "Remember when . . . . ," so that at some future time and in some other place, memories and faces of EMC will come rushing back to allow each one to relive again his college days.

Departments. 11

With respect and appreciation for their integrity, inspiration, and achievements, the 1959 Aurora is dedicated to the Faculty and Administration of Eastern Michigan College. Without their services, the campus would become barren, physically and intellectually. We, who are students, should be aware of the countless opportunities they hold out to us and aspire to fulfill their faith in us.

DEPARTMENTS

The art student in a life drawing class has one of the most complex forms to draw: the human figure.

ART

The Department of Art has grown rapidly during the past few years. The department sponsors the college art gallery which presents various art exhibits, including work of the students, and maintains a permanent collection of paintings. An art class is also sponsored for children up to fifteen years of age, which is taught by the art students in the department.

A student browses among the exhibits in the college art gallery.

Art Guild

Members of the Art Guild are busy from September to June. The annual Masquerade Ball was the big event for November, and in December the Guild made a two-day field trip to Chicago to visit galleries and museums. Spring activities centered around the outdoor sale show which began May 11, and featured the work of the art students.

BUSINESS

The Department of Business offers students four courses of study, business education, business administration, business management, and business technology.

Dr. Roth appears to have puzzled a few of his students on the finer points of business law.

Asdfghjkl;¢
Typing: a necessity for a stenographer, an advantage for a businessman, and a boon to every college student.

Which key to push with which finger . . . that's the problem these students in a class in office machine operation are trying to solve. Working with office machines is fun, interesting, and time-saving and this course is one of the most popular in the department.

LIBRARY SCIENCE

The Library serves the campus not only with its collection of books, periodicals and other information and material, but as a center for the Department of Library Science, which trains students who wish to become school librarians.

Study, sleep, relaxation, friends, ...

CHEMISTRY & PHYSICS

With the opening in 1957, of the Edwin A. Strong Physical Science Building, the Departments of Chemistry and Physics have modernized and expanded their facilities to offer students excellent preparation in the physical sciences.

Dr. Barnes directs a student experimenting in Electricity and Light lab. Physics and chemistry lectures are all supplemented by lab classes, where the student learns the principles and practical applications of his subject firsthand. Strong Physical Science Building contains numerous well-equipped labs for the use of students and instructors in the department.

EDUCATION

The Department of Education is the oldest department on campus, as the college was originally opened as Michigan State Normal School, the first normal, or teacher training, school in Michigan. This department still holds the central position in the college departments of instruction.

Student teachers familiarize themselves with the classroom situation at the campus laboratory schools or several local off-campus schools.

Horace H. Rackham School of Special Education serves as a laboratory school for handicapped children and the Department of Special Education.

Roosevelt School is located on the campus and is operated by the college. Here, while practice teaching, students encounter the laboratory classroom situation.

Lincoln Consolidated School, located about seven miles south of Ypsilanti, is operated jointly by the college and the Lincoln School District.

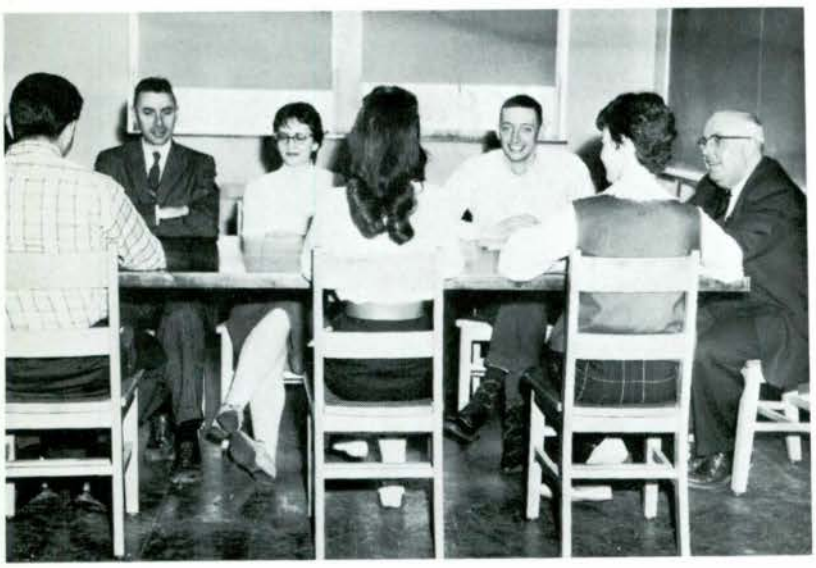

ENGLISH & SPEECH

The Department of English and Speech is of primary importance. Here, the freshmen brush up on composition, literature and speech, so necessary for communication. Here, also, are the advanced classes in writing, literature, speech, interpretation and dramatic arts.

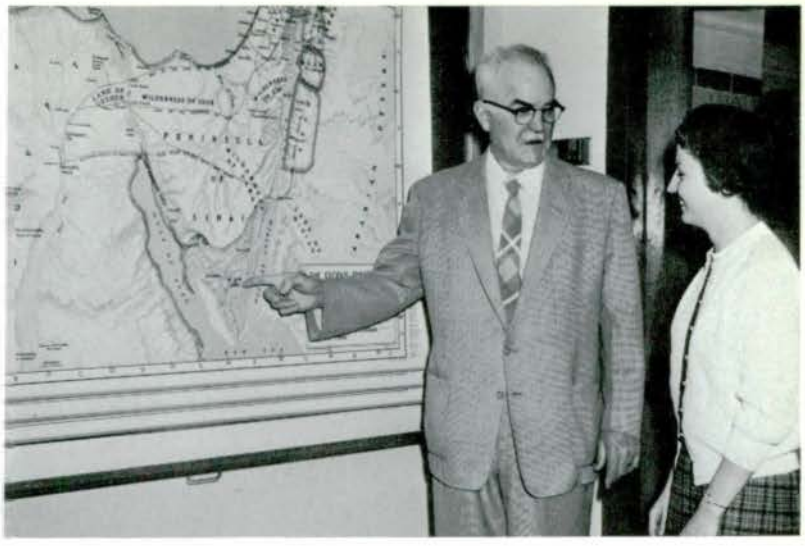

One of the main interests of the department is the forensics program. The department directs this extra-curricular activity, which is open to everyone, in the areas of oratory, extemporaneous speaking, discussion, public speaking, debate, and interpretive reading. EMC, with twelve other Michigan colleges, forms the Michigan InterCollegiate Speech League. This league sponsors various tournaments for oratory, discussion, and debate. Eastern has won three of these tournaments in the past year and placed first in many individual contests. Active on campus is Pi Kappa Delta, the largest honorary speech society in the United States.

The answer to an educator's dream, Interpretive Reading class is full of opportunities for active participation. The students deal with the fundamental problems of oral interpretation, developing poise and ease before an audience, a clear and forceful voice, and flexibility and discrimination in interpreting the thought to others.

Active participation in committees, panels, and forums develops comprehension of the principles and pratice of discussion and conference.

Dr. Maddox, professor of English, points out Mt. Sinai, on a biblical map, as a site of interest for students in The Bible as Literature class, a study of the literature of the Old and New Testaments.

HISTORY, GEOGRAPHY & SOCIAL SCIENCES

History of civilization becomes vividly imaginable, interesting, and often amusing as Mr. Reinhard Wittke, assistant professor of history, lectures before a class in Welch Hall.

Today, more than ever before, it is necessary for the citizens of this country to be well-informed concerning political activities and implications, both at home and abroad. Perhaps this is the reason many students elect courses which will give them an understanding and a background of the events which shape the world. The Departments of Geography, History, and Social Sciences present a wide selection of courses to a large number of students. The American government and general education courses required of all students are only a few among those offered in history, geography, sociology, economics, and political science.

Dinner will be served at the Ellen H. Richards Home Management House, where all home economics majors live for a semester.

HOME ECONOMICS

Although some home economics students are no doubt interested in the well-known proverb "the way to a man's heart is thru his stomach," many of the home economics majors plan on a career of teaching. The Home Economics Department offers classes not only in cooking and sewing, but in interior decoration, health, and problems of family living.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Industrial arts majors and minors, occupational therapy students and any student who is interested are offered courses of practical value in the Department of Industrial Arts. Household mechanics, technical drawing, toy making, arts and crafts, weaving, and woodworking are among the varied and interesting classes available.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Today, when any foreign land is within easy traveling distance, for business or pleasure, knowledge of a foreign language is of increasing importance. French, German, Spanish, and Russian are offered by the Department of Foreign Language and Literature. English is also taught as a foreign language for students from other countries.

Professor Marguerite Lehr, head of the Mathematics Department at Byrn Mawr College, Byrn Mawr, Pennsylvania, presented a series of three lectures at Eastern, March 20 and 21. Lecturing on the topics, "Parades, Geometry, and Alien Corn," "Through the Complex Numbers to the Quaternion Algebra," and "Finite Division Rings are Fields," Miss Lehr offered a stimulating and entertaining approach to pure mathematics for faculty and mathematics students.

MATHEMATICS

The Department of Mathematics is growing rapidly at Eastern. With the emphasis being placed more and more on science and mathematics, increasing numbers of students are electing courses in mathematics for preparation in the fields of engineering and teaching. Because of the great demand for mathematics teachers, the training of students for this field is of major concern to the department and a sizeable library of teaching materials and aids is available to students in Walter O. Briggs Building, which houses the department.

Time to relax is welcomed before digging into that Elements of Calculus book.

The Department of Special Education not only trains students in teaching the handicapped, but provides a school for the handicapped children of this area. Horace H. Rackham School of Special Education contains facilities for schooling, physical and occupational therapy, and living quarters for children who are deaf, hard of hearing, blind, partially sighted, mentally and orthopedically handicapped.

MUSIC

The Department of Music embraces the whole campus with opportunities for everyone to participate in its musical program. Choral Union, Band, and Orchestra are open to all students and private lessons in voice and various instruments are also given. Advanced courses in theory, conducting, history and music appreciation are offered, as well as music education courses for non-specializing students.

Brian Rogers, EMC music student featured in the annual winter band concert, January 18, studies the music of "Fantasia di Concerto" with Mr. Mitchell Osadchuk. Practice of Boccalari's "Fantasia" follows, as Mr. Osadchuk looks on.

Concert Band

A familiar sight on the football field, the Band takes to the stage of Pease Auditorium for the winter season.

Choral Union

The Eastern Michigan Choral Union combines with the college Orchestra for the annual Christmas Concert in Pease Auditorium.

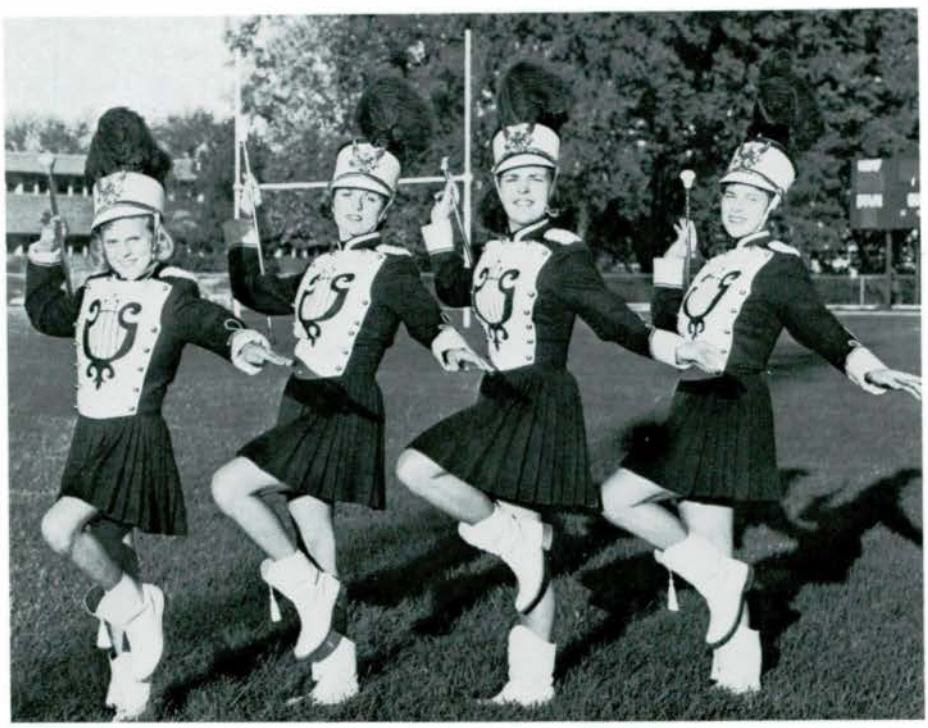

No, the stage at Pease hasn't been split in two. The College Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. William D. Fitch, plays as a unit, and very well, too.

Natural Science Club

Future elementary teachers, natural science majors and minors, and anyone interested in science will find a course of study suited for them in the Department of Natural Science. The department is housed in Sherzer Hall and Hover Science Building. Weekly science movies, field trips, and stimulating labs help make natural science classes both interesting and educational.

Cheers and shouts echo through the old gym whenever a volleyball game is in session.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical fitness is the main concern of the Department of Physical Education. Future teachers are well trained in skills and teaching techniques in order to teach in elementary schools, high schools and colleges. Twelve hours of activity courses are required of all women students who are also automatic members of the department's Women's Recreation Association, which offers a widely varied extracurricular sports program. Men students are also required to take twelve activity hours and may also participate in the extensive intramural program.

Workouts on the parallel bars develop muscle men. Gymnastics are offered to men students as part of the general physical education program as well as in the program designed for majors in the field.

Physical Education Club

Women's Division

The Women's Physical Education Club, during the past year, sponsored a fashion show by the E. R. Moore Gymwear Company of Chicago, the Senior Women's Breakfast, and a Parent Open House at which the activities of the Women's Physical Education Department were presented.

The purpose of the club is to promote a professional interest in physical education among the students majoring in physical education, and to provide opportunities for students and faculty to become better acquainted.

OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY

Occupational Therapy is an interesting and satisfying career. The therapist works to physically and emotionally rehabilitate the sick and handicapped. OT students must complete post graduate clinical service in various hospitals throughout the country before they are eligible to qualify for entrance by examination to the American Occupational Therapy Association.

Russ White works at an intricate weaving design. The looms on which the OT students learn are located in Rackham.

Puppets are a fascination for young and old alike. Susan Cassell and Mary Vetter show Miss Holtom, OT instructor, the hand puppets they have made in toy making class.

Copper tooling is one of the crafts an occupational therapists uses in her work. Nancy Puehler examines some of the work while Carole Hays tries her hand at a design.

GOVERNMENT

Student Government at Eastern encompasses the entire student body. Student Council concerns itself with all aspects of the students' welfare and is their voice in college affairs. Branches of the Council are the Student Court and the All College Social Committee.

The Women's League and Men's Union include every student in their membership. The purpose of these two organizations is to promote interest in general student welfare and group activities and to provide opportunities for leadership, cooperation and democratic practices.

Hospitality Committee

Good will representatives of the college, the members of the Hospitality Committee serve as campus guides for visiting groups and prospective students. Their biggest task comes in the spring when over a thousand high school students visit Eastern on Future Teachers of America Day. College Night programs in area high schools often require the services of the committee members, who donate their time to help strangers feel at home at Eastern.

SPOTLIGHTS ON HIGHLIGHTS

Accent on Assemblies!

* JAPANESE OLYMPIC WRESTLING TEAM—APRIL 7

British diplomat, the Right Honorable Anthony Nutting, discussed the "Muddle in the Middle East," at a February 25 assembly. Mr. Nutting served as Minister of State for Foreign Affairs and is primarily concerned with the furtherance of Anglo-American relations.

A November 18 all-college assembly brought the noted humorist, author and TV personality, Bennett Cerf, to Eastern's campus for an entertaining discourse on "Modern Trends in Literature and Humor."

* DANISH DANCE AND GYM TEAM—OCTOBER 22

* RECORDING ARTIST ALEX KALLAO—MARCH 13

Captain Irving Johnson (left), skipper of ocean sailing vessels for a quarter of a century, spoke of cannibal-inhabited islands and uncharted Pacific paradises at an assembly program, March 10. With Capt. Johnson is EMC student, Don Alchin, who accompanied the Captain on one of his voyages.

* THE DANCE TEAM OF KOVACH AND RABOVSKY—OCTOBER 21

Mr. Blair Stewart, Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, Oberlin College, gave the eleventh John M. Munson Address at the March 23 Honors Convocation. Dean Blair, a member of a party of educators which toured Russia during the summer of 1958, spoke on "A Glimpse of Russian Education."

Phi Delta Kappa

Phi Delta Kappa is a professional fraternity for men in education, the largest and the oldest. It is an association providing fellowship with men of common interests. It makes group action possible in the achievement of professional goals and in the promotion of worthy objectives.

"The chief purpose of Phi Delta Kappa shall be to promote free public education as an essential to the development and maintenance of a democracy, through a continuing interpretation of the ideals of research, service, and leadership. It shall be the purpose of Phi Delta Kappa to translate these ideals into a program of action appropriate to the needs of public education."—the constitution.

Phi Delta Kappa was founded at Indiana University in 1906. Its campus chapters are located in approved colleges and universities of graduate rank maintaining schools, colleges, or departments of education. There are 97 campus chapters with 65 off-campus alumni groups. The Delta Gamma Chapter was installed at Eastern Michigan College on June 14, 1957.

Stoic Founder, Mr. J. Stuart Lathers

Stoics

50th Anniversary

1909-1959

Stoic Society enjoys the distinction of being the oldest honorary society on campus. The group had its beginnings in January 1909 at an informal gathering in the home of Professor J. Stuart Lathers, head of the Department of Oratory of Michigan State Normal College.

A scholarship fund was begun in 1909 to encourage promising sophomore students to return for their third year of study, for at that time, it was customary for those preparing to teach to remain in college only two years. The organization now awards a scholarship to each officer, and administers twelve scholarship funds with a principal totaling over $15,000. Nominees for membership are still selected from the sophomore class and members are chosen by vote of the membership and the faculty on the basis of scholarship, moral responsibility, helpfulness in school affairs, and initiative.

Stoic traditions which have continued over the years are the White Elephant Sale, the Reception for New Members, the Stoic Banquet, and the May Breakfast.

Beginning with only eleven members, Stoic Society has grown with the college, and its 1959 student membership totals approximately one hundred. Its former members are serving in positions of honor and responsibility in this country and abroad.

Stoic officers make preparations for the Fiftieth Anniversary Banquet.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia

The Delta Xi chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, a national professional music fraternity for men, was installed at Eastern in 1948. The main purpose of the group is the advancement of American Music and membership is open to any man belonging to one or more of EMC's musical groups.

This past year the fraternity held three open houses, two for purposes of rushing and one for alumni on Homecoming Weekend. Two concerts were given, "A Study in Modern Jazz," in February, and in May, the annual "American Music" concert, presented in conjunction with Mu Phi Epsilon music sorority.

Circle K

"WE BUILD"

Established on the campus a little over a year ago, Circle K Club has already made a name for itself as an energetic and purposeful service club. Sponsored by Kiwanis, the organization became chartered as an International Circle K club last November. This past year, Circle K came to the front with their prize-winning Homecoming float of Mr. Magoo. The club also sponsored recent movies, shown in Strong Auditorium, including "Giant," "Viva Zapata," "The Bad Seed," "Kismet," and many others.

Catalina Island

Each year, the Catalina Club, a group of students interested in synchronized swimming, creates and arranges an aquatic show. This year, the show portrayed the "exciting and fascinating story of a wonderful little place somewhere, anywhere, known as Catalina Island."

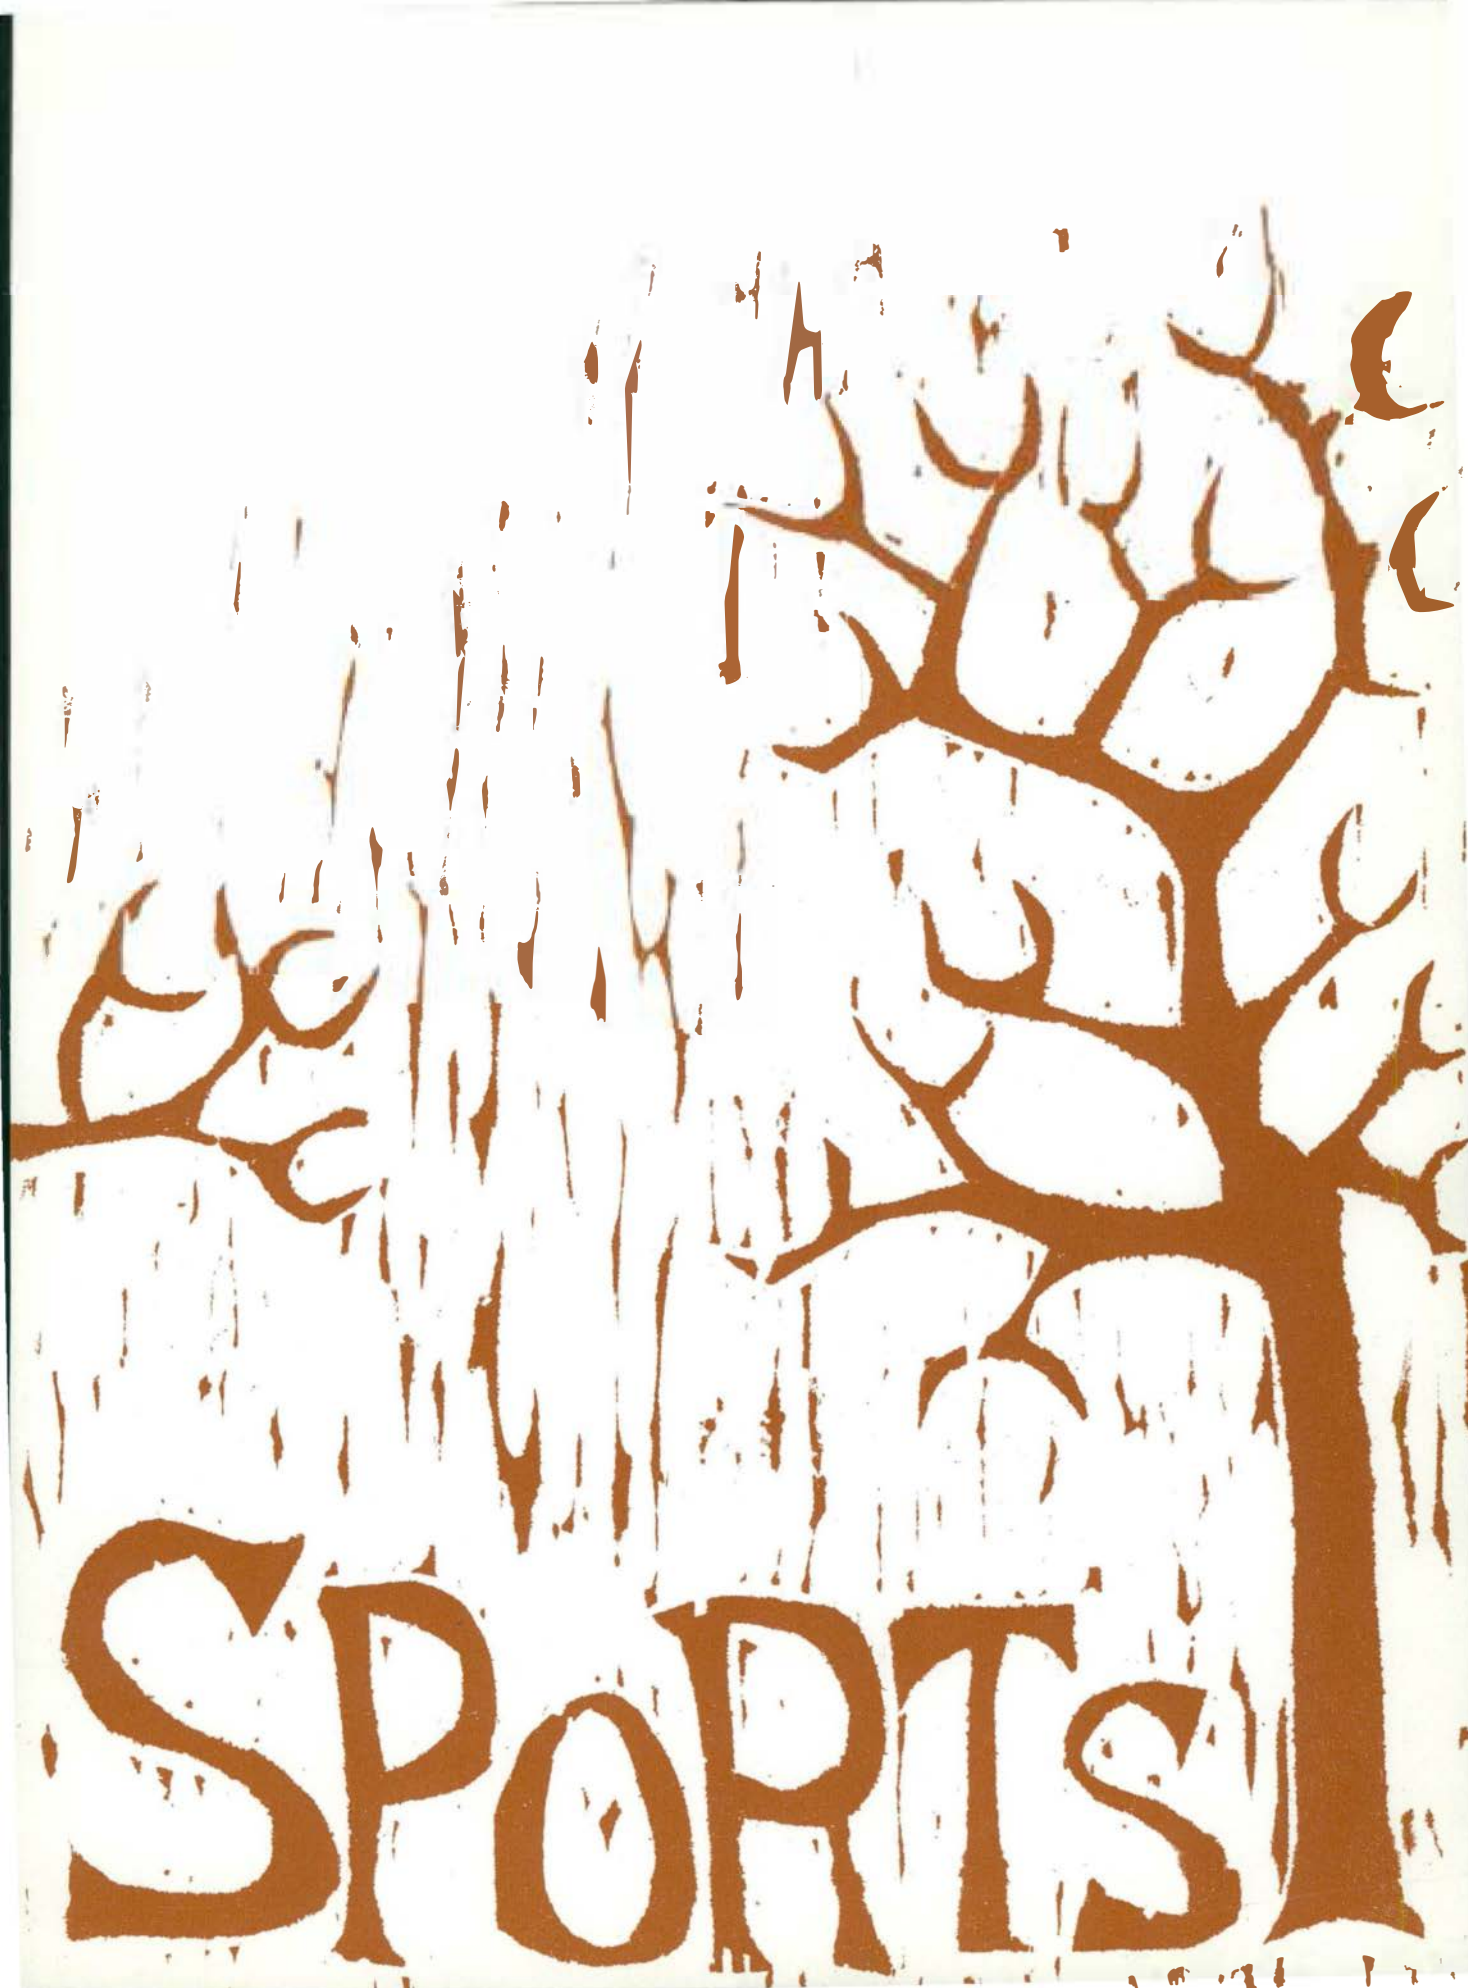

ABOVE: Chapter XIII in the story of Catalina Island features the "Perky Penguins."
LEFT: "Forest Fantasy" came to life with music from the "Peer Gynt Suite." The swimmers portrayed leaves and trees in the forests of the Island.

"Bouncing Bunnies" among other animals live on the Island.

Hold That Line. . . . . !

Hurons, Hurons, Hats off to thee!
Fight! Fight! Fight! for EMC!
Shout to the sky the Huron's war-cry,
The bravest we'll defy!
Hold that line for Old Green and White!
Loyal sons come show your might.
Fight! Fight! for EMC and VICTORY!

Court of 1958

Fantasia's Great in '58.

1958 Homecoming "Fantasia" was thought by many students, faculty and alumni to be the "best ever." Skies were blue and sunny, the air was warm, and school spirit was high. Friday night saw hurried last-minute float and display preparations, but Saturday's exhibits were worth all effort. Awards for floats and residence hall decorations went to Circle K Club, EMC Players, Pi Kappa Phi fraternity, Sigma Nu Phi sorority, Women's League, and Goodison, Munson, and Downing Halls. The Hurons met Eastern Illinois on Briggs Stadium field and defeated the Panthers 31-0. Dormitory open houses and the Saturday Homecoming Dance completed a weekend of enjoyment.

Hoofbeats resounded as the "Horseman known as Zorro" galloped past the parade viewers.

Although not eligible for play during the first semester, Bill Stephens (24) led the Hurons to a fine comeback from the previous year's low season when he again joined the team in 1959.

Perhaps the most valuable player on the squad, if "scrap" can be considered a major asset, Frank Manley (31) spent most of his time in the air.

Eastern's "two-mile king," Gurney Beach ran perhaps the best race of his four-year career at EMC against Indiana in the spring of 1958. His 9:29 was considered a major factor in defeating the topnotch Hoosiers.

Hayes Jones, nationally recognized as one of the top three hurdlers in the country, was last year's indoor and outdoor national hurdling champion. For the second year in a row, Hayes tied the indoor sixty-yard high hurdles record, which he holds jointly with Milt Campbell, ex-Indiana hurdler, at :07 seconds flat. Hayes could generally be counted on to take from 15-20 points in any dual meet, and with his senior year yet to come. Huron fans may look for EMC's first true Olympic champion.

Captain Jim Robinson culminated his four year career at Eastern with an EMC pole vault record of 14 feet ½ inches, which was established at Bower Field House, February 28, in a triangular meet with Bowling Green University and the University of Detroit. This accomplishment makes him the second Michigan-born vaulter to cross the fourteen foot barrier.

Crack Huron half-miler, Doug Carroll, although hampered by lack of competition, has proved himself one of the top runners in his event in intrastate meets.

YULE LOG DRAG

The annual Yule Log Drag, sponsored by the Men's Union added to the air of pre-holiday festivity on campus.

Buddy Morrow and his famous orchestra appeared March 20 at the combination J-Hop—Sophomore Swirl.

"MORROW IN MODERN"

Miss Marie Murtonen received the title of honorary "Cadet Colonel" of the "Satellite Ball" from Lt. Col. Pratt A. Warren, head of the ROTC department.

Two cadets guard the secret weapon revealed for the first time at the annual ROTC Military Ball.

"SATELLITE BALL"

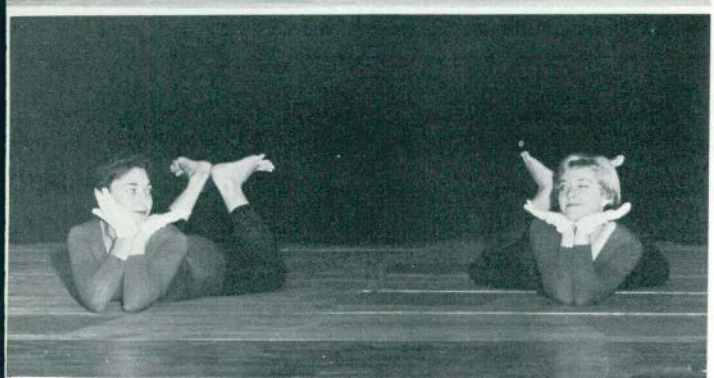

. . . . And Dancing!

The annual Modern Dance Concert was given for the first time in the new Quirk Theatre, February 26 and 27. Students participating in the program were members of the beginning modern dance club or Orchesis, a group of advanced students. Under the direction of Miss Marilyn Yarmain, physical education instructor, the participating students planned their own costumes, scenery, and choreography.

The Greek legend of "Orpheus and the Underworld" is the theme for this group number, featuring members of Orchesis, a group of advanced dance students.

Betty Brown assisted in the direction of "Orpheus" as well as dancing in the number.

SENIORS

The Seniors leave the experiences of college life . . .

. . . the fun found in parties,

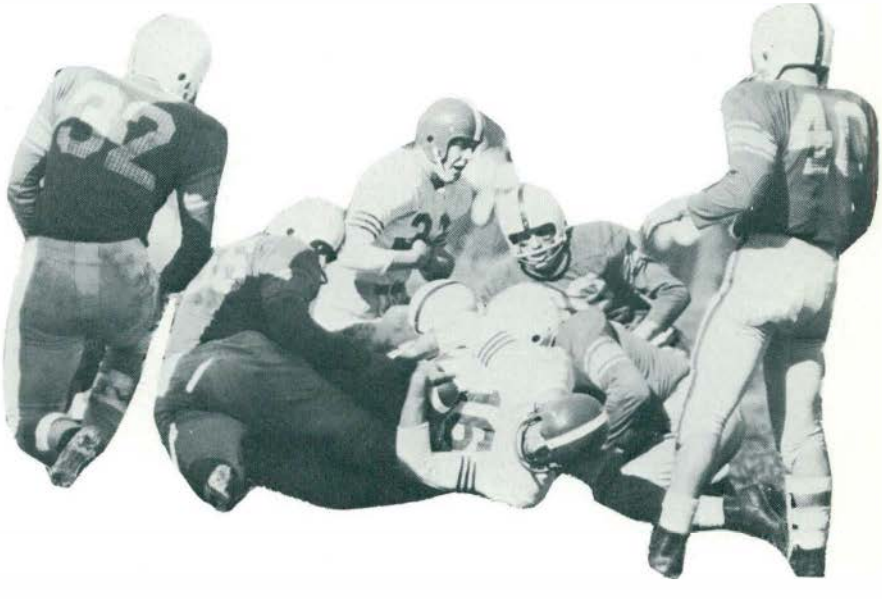

homecoming parades,

dances,

games, and interesting people;

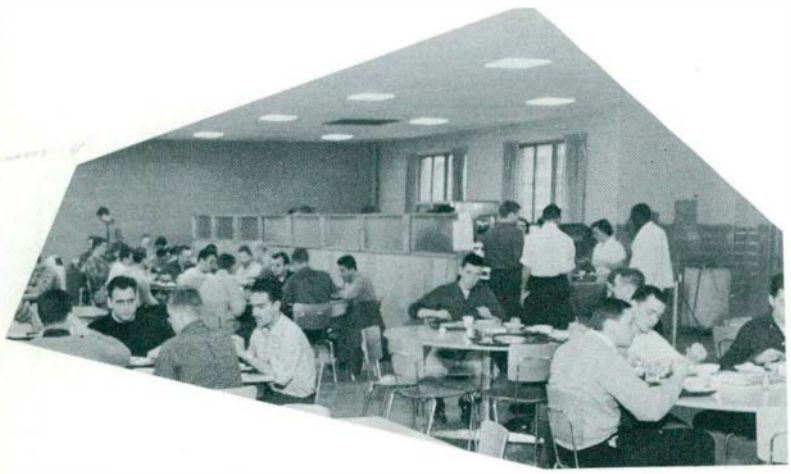

the rigors of registration;

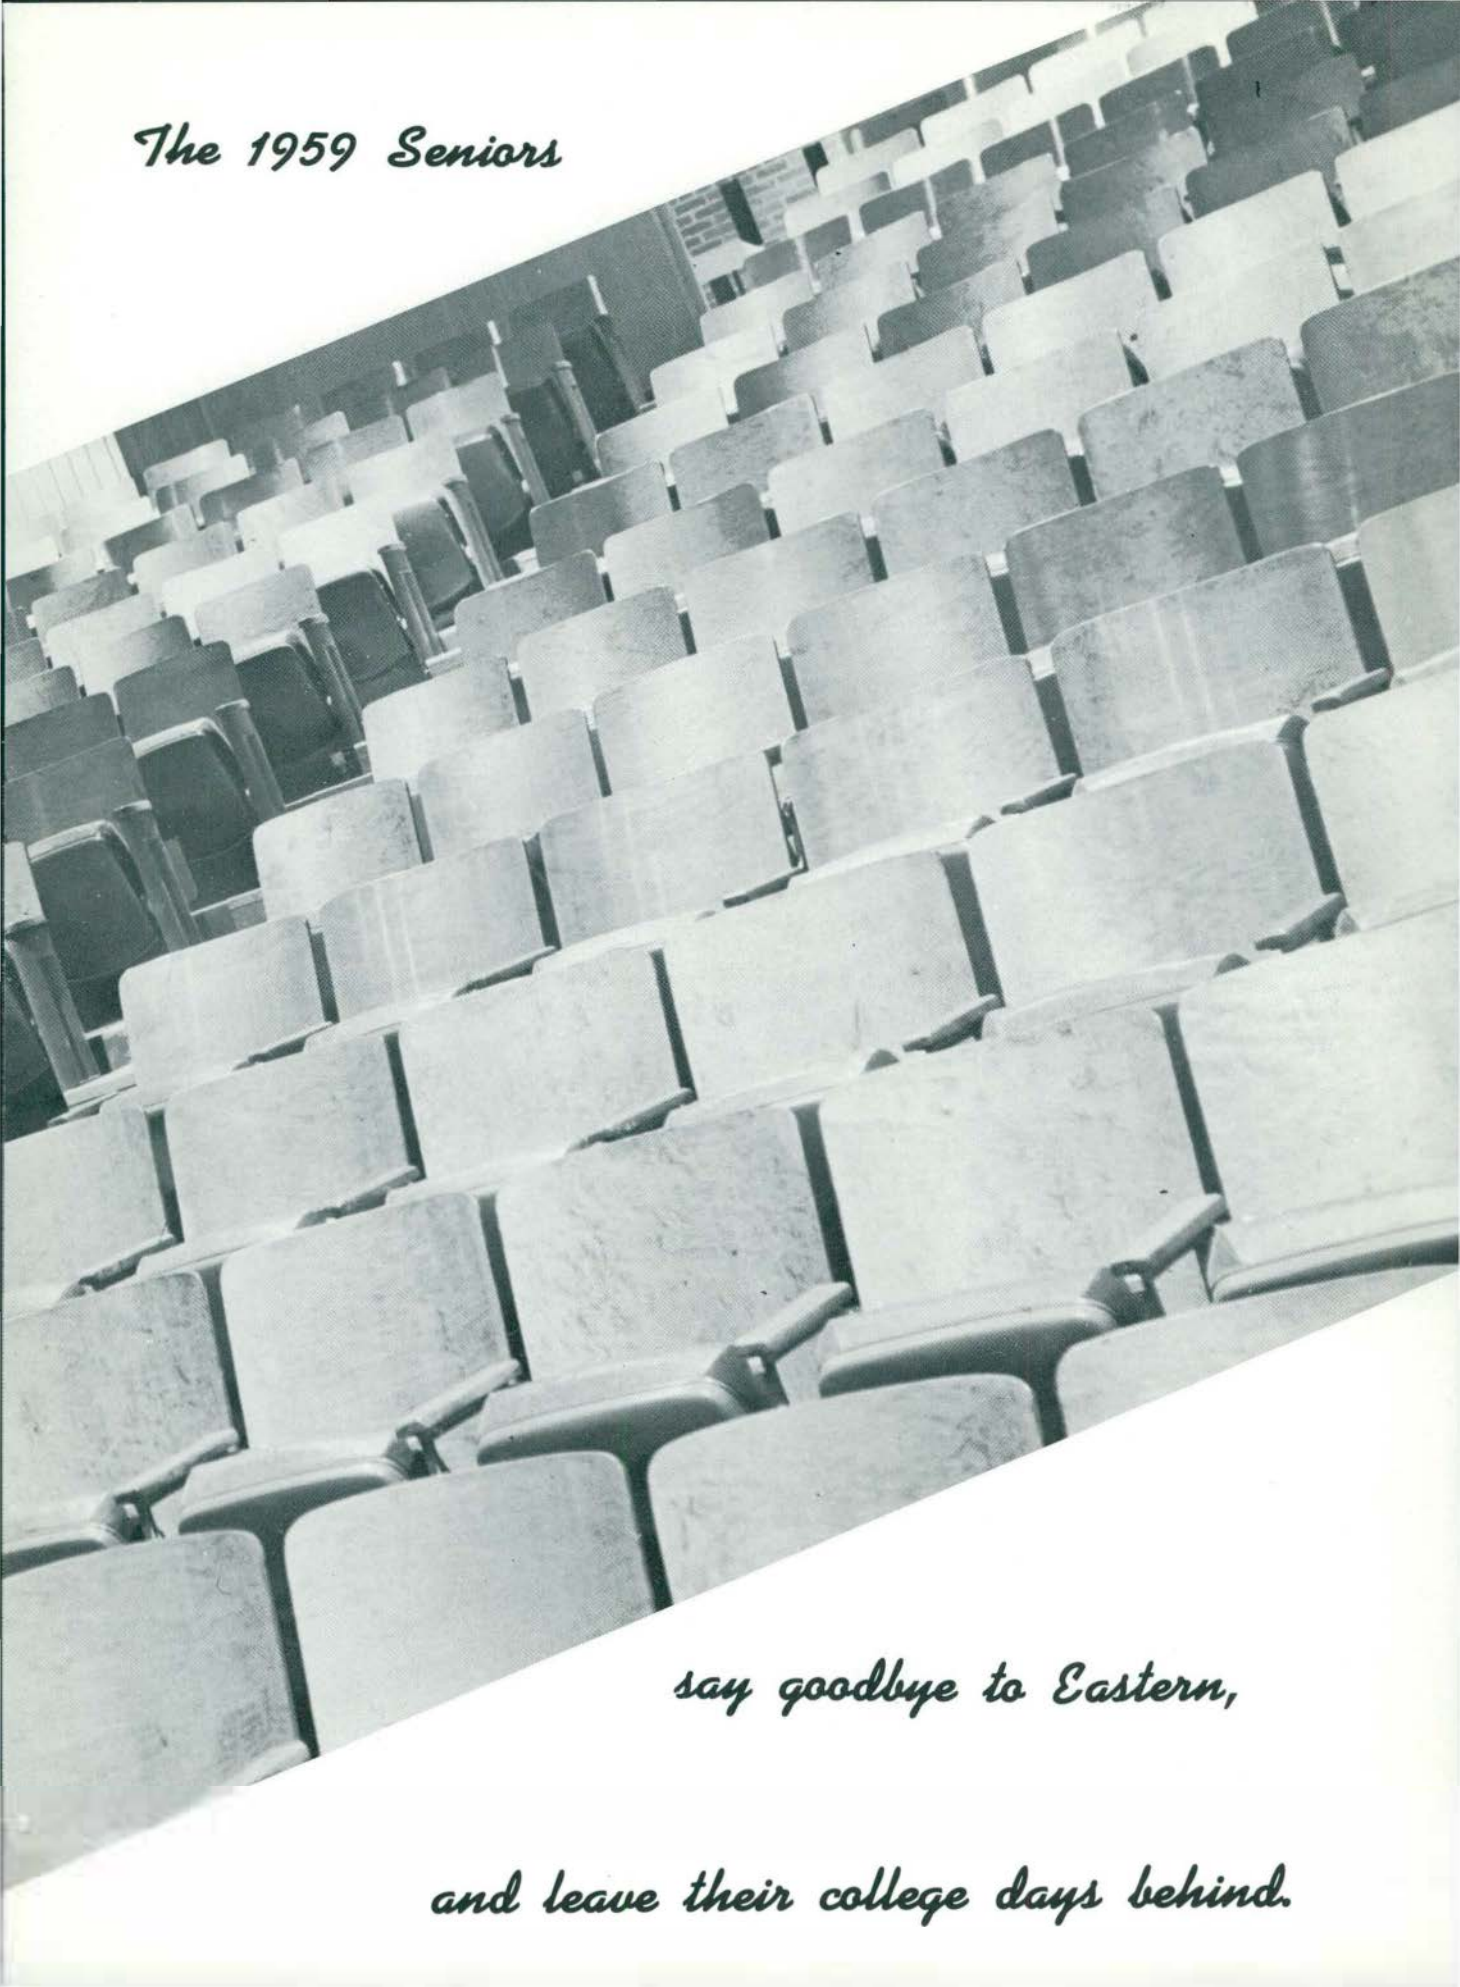

the uniqueness of dormitory living;

and the bittersweet

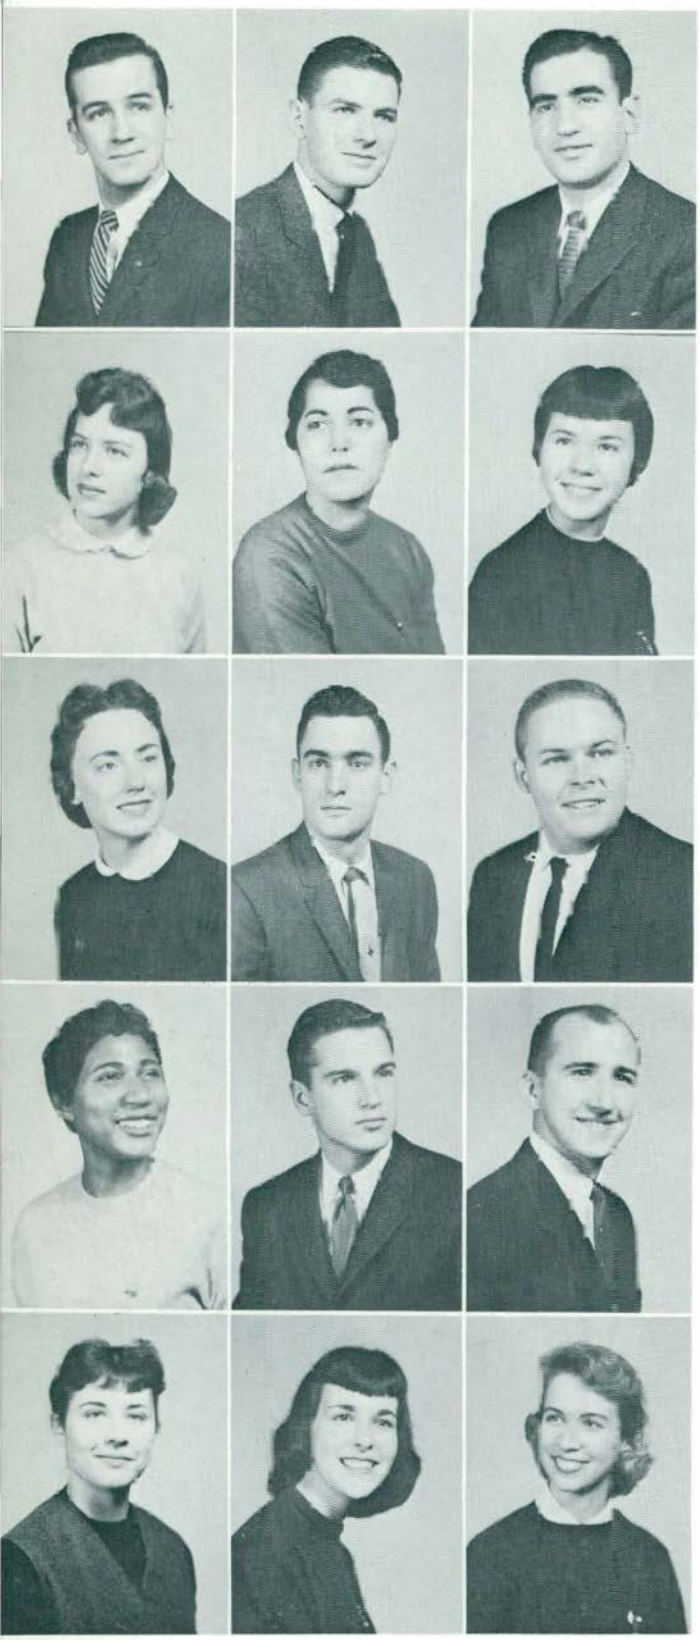

joy of graduation.

Eastern Michigan University . . .

State Senator Louis G. Christman, Representative William C. Sterling, President Eugene B. Elliott, Governor G. Mennen Williams, Representative James F. Warner, State Board of Education member Chris H. Magnusson.

Governor Williams congratulates President Elliott on Eastern's new status as a university, effective June 1.

. . . at long last!

A long climb from normal school to university, but March 18, 1959 saw the signing of a bill, in Lansing, by Michigan's Governor G. Mennen Williams creating Eastern Michigan University.

The theater lounge was thoroughly inspected and greatly admired by students at the January 14 dedication.

Quirk Dedication

The dedication of the Daniel L. Quirk, Jr., Dramatic Arts Building opens the way for future expansion and progress in the field of speech and drama at Eastern.

The new building, built around an outside peristyle, houses a 400-seat theater, a small studio theater, dressing rooms, workshop, costume shop, projection booth, four classrooms, offices, and a radio studio designed to accommodate television in the future.

Mr. Quirk, in whose honor the building is named, was a long-time supporter of the college and a founder and patron of the local little theater movement.

The Daniel L. Quirk, Jr., Dramatic Arts Building marks another milestone in Eastern's expansion.

"Study of theater requires a theater building! . . . May your theater building always be used for theater." . . . . . John Gassner.

Admiring the painting of Daniel L. Quirk, Jr., are his daughter, Mrs. Nancy Quirk Williams, wife of governor of Michigan, G. Mennen Williams; Dr. William Work, Associate Professor of Speech; and Mr. James E. Green, Vice-President and Director of Planning and Development.

Dr. John W. Sattler, head of the Department of English and Speech, chats with dedication speaker John Gassner, Sterling Professor of Playwriting and Dramatic Literature at Yale University.

This Season

With the stimulus of the new Quirk Dramatic Arts Building, theatre activity at Eastern increased in variety and scope during the 1958-59 season. New features included the sale of tickets on a subscription basis and a coffee-discussion hour after each play, sponsored by Alpha Psi Omega. More students participated actively than ever before in the EMC Players' program, and there was a marked increase in audience support.

In the fall of 1958, qualified Eastern Michigan College student directors presented a one-act play bill consisting of Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Aria da Capo," Thornton Wilder's "The Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden," and Sean O'Casey's "The End of the Beginning." This marked the farewell performance in the Roosevelt High School Auditorium, which served for several years as the home of EMC plays. Student directors for the three plays were David Meneghel, Ronald Muchnick, and Jerry Tewmey.

The gala opening of the Daniel L. Quirk, Jr. Dramatic Arts Building followed shortly thereafter. Its dedication production was a modern American drama, "The Crucible," by Arthur Miller. The first performance was presented on January 14, 1959.

TOP: Michael Warren, Donna Freeman, Cameron Hudson, Erroane Conley, Joe DelGiudice, Kathleen Wynn, Laura Dunlap, Peter Saputo in "The Crucible."
MIDDLE: Kathleen Wynn, David Meneghel, Laura Dunlap in "The Crucible."
BOTTOM: Raymond Nichols and Peter Saputo in "Pyramus and Thisbe."

in Theatre. . .

In observance of International Theatre Celebration, Professor George Bird selected Jean Giraudoux's French comedy, "The Madwoman of Chaillot" as the next play in the new building. Later in the spring the EMC Players, together with the Department of Music and the Women's Physical Education Department, offered Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein's musical, "Oklahoma!"

TOP: Ina Rae Stanton, Karen Boesen, Judith Krauss, Kathleen McCorry in "The Madwoman of Chaillot."
MIDDLE: Peter Saputo, Karen Boesen in "The Madwoman of Chaillot."
BOTTOM: Louis Cernava, Audrey Connolly, Laura Dunlap, Karen Boesen, Joe DelGiudice in "The Madwoman of Chaillot."

Now that the 1959 Aurora is out in the world, away from the third floor cubicle in McKenny Hall, it seems only fitting to publicly acknowledge all those who cooperated and aided and abetted us so wonderfully. Our appreciation and sincere thanks go to Rosemary Lawrence, Dick Wilbur, Dale Fisher and Associates, Delma Studios and Mr. Sam Fields for all photographic services; to Edwards Brothers, Incorporated, and Marty Edwards for bearing with us in the face of all sorts of difficulties, predominantly late deadlines; to the S. K. Smith Company and Dick Rollins for helping Marge realize her choice of cover; to the Eastern Echo staff for general companionship and much help; and to numerous others for their assistance and guidance, Mr. James E. Green, Mr. David Crippen, and many more. The road was long and hard, but the many new friends and acquaintances, the varied and numerous new experiences made it all very worthwhile.
